Mrs. Dolan, Constable Kingston Insist Right Man Is Buried In Cedar Rest; N.O. Police To Recheck

PRESENTS RECORD—Gen. Louis Guerre presents to the Christ Church Episcopal School a recording of "The Star Spangled Banner." The presentation was made on behalf of the American Legion.

Mrs. William Dolan insists, regardless of the difference in the fingerprints returned by Parchman that her husband is the man buried in Cedar Rest cemetery.

Mrs. Dolan said, "I did not make a mistake in my identification of the body at the Funeral Home in New Orleans." She added the body was not only identified by herself, but by a number of their friends who had known her husband for some time.

William Dolan, who was cleared of the charge of being the "Phantom Barber," was missing three weeks when the man was discovered drowned in the river.

Mrs. Dolan said, "When the body was found, according to the coroner, there was only a penny found on him, but the undertaker returned a watch to me, that he said was found on the body when it was brought into the funeral home. My husband never carried a watch in his life."

She added, "The clothes that he was supposed to be wearing at the time were not given to me. Some old dungarees and an old shirt, which never could have fit my husband were given to me. The shirt had markings on the back of the neck which we believe to be blood, and my husband, who I identified, had no injuries except on his wrist where he had a small cut."

"About the fingerprints," Mrs. Dolan went on to say, "They were not taken while I was at the Funeral Home. The undertaker told me that he had taken them and later denied this to law officers."

She said, "The time lapsed between the two identifications was from Friday night to Saturday evening. No one was in New Orleans with the body during this time."

Mrs. Dolan said, "One of the things which aroused my suspicion was that the undertaker, on Friday evening, from Bay St. Louis, saying that I had changed my mind and decided that the body found was not my husband and I had not phoned him or asked anyone to phone for me." She said, these phone calls are recorded at the sheriff's office in St. Bernard Parish."

At a meeting in New Orleans, with all the officials involved in the case, Mrs. Dolan attended with Constable Nolan Kingston. The outcome of the meeting was that another set of prints will be sent to Parchman for a double check, to make sure there was no mistake in the first ones.

The body was identified by R. G. Hubbard, Supervisor of Beat 5, who said, "As far as I am concerned the body found was William Dolan. One of the things I checked was the smashed thumb which had happened a few days before he was missing."

Mrs. Dolan said, "Another means of identification was his shoes which had been given to him by a policeman from New Orleans." The mystery started when a man was found in the Mississippi River and identified by Mrs. Dolan as her husband. A routine check was made with the F. B. I. in Washington and the officials at Parchman. The result of this check was the discovery of the differences in fingerprints.

But there could be a mistake in the prints.

Dolan had worked for the Barneys for more than a year, and they insisted that the man buried in Cedar Rest is Dolan. Constable Kingston, who has investigated the case from the start, said, "I knew Dolan and I saw the body. To the best of my knowledge that was Dolan."

Dolan also confirmed Mrs. Dolan's story about the difference in clothes. He said the New Orleans undertaker told him he gave Dolan's striped coat to Coroner Emile Piazza, but Mr. Piazza says he never got the coat. The undertaker repeated this to Capt. Downey of the New Orleans police.

Railroad Worker Shot During Card Game

A 23 year old railroad employee was shot this week during an argument which flared up in the middle of a card game, Constable Nolan Kingston reported.

J. M. Hamilton, 61, foreman of an extra gang for the railroad, shot Richard Debellis, 23, a member of the gang, through the hip with a 38 short revolver, Kingston said.

Kingston said, "I was called from the depot at 11:45 Monday night by the ticket agent Gordon Courge. When I got there I found Debellis, shot through the hip. I then called Fahey Ambulance Service, who took him to Kings Daughters Hospital for treatment."

Constable Kingston added he then questioned the witnesses who were present at the time of the shooting. "They told me that Hamilton and Debellis were playing cards with three other men when Hamilton began to curse Debellis. Debellis stood up and told Hamilton to stop. Hamilton drew his gun and shot the younger man."

Kingston then proceeded to the camp car where Hamilton stayed and confiscated the gun. He charged Hamilton with shooting with attempt to kill and placed him under arrest.

Following his arrest, Kingston, and officers Pat Garcia and Cap-depon, returned to the camp car where the shooting had taken place. They found the shell taken out of the revolver which had been thrown on the ground. They removed the bullet, which had gone through Debellis' hip and protruded into the wall.

The man accused of the shooting was released yesterday on $2,000 bond.

Hundreds View St. Joseph's Feast Table And Altar

Between 1200 and 1500 persons, who traveled from points all along the Gulf Coast, viewed last Friday the St. Joseph's Altar and feast table prepared by Russell Maurigi of this city in keeping with a family tradition begun here in 1920.

The Maurigi home on St. John had been the scene of culinary bustle for at least a week before St. Joseph's Day. When the doors were opened following the blessing of the feast by Father Taylor, Friday, citizens from as far away as Pascagoula came to receive blessed bread and beans and see banquet array.

The seven grandchildren of the Maurigi family were the first to be served this year at the request of the senior Maurigi.

There were 45 plates and platters of food, seven cakes and an array of pastries and candies included. As tradition demands, only fish was used in the meat preparations.

Spring flowers, artificial orchids and wood flowers, ivy and candles were used for decorations. These were arranged against a partial background of changeable taffeta and illusion.

At the foot of the statue of St. Joseph, a pair of lamb-shaped cakes in white rested on beds of grass-green coconut. Other cakes prepared by the noted pastry maker were in the shape of a crucifix, a basket, a heart and an Easter egg.

The offerings to the feast day saint, served the two-fold purpose of providing gifts to needy families and a luncheon of long-standing tradition in the Maurigi family.

Russell Maurigi's mother, who died in 1947, had prepared the St. Joseph's Day altar and table since 1920. For a few years following her death, the custom ceased.

In 1950, as a way of showing his thanks for the recovery of his father from an accident, Russell again began the observance of St. Joseph's day in the grand manner. This was the fifth endeavor.

Russell Dawsey and Herbert Mitchell went on trial for cattle stealing yesterday.

The State presented two witnesses Thomas Zengaring and Leo Ladner, who testified that they found the head and skin of a cow which was stolen and killed.

Both testified that they got in touch with Mr. J. W. Thomas, special investigator for the Cattlemen's Association.

The defense attorney, Bidwell Adams of Gulfport, then cross-examined each. The point which the defense brought out strongest was that he two men did not know the exact weight of the cow or the exact market value on the day the cow was stolen.

Judge Leslie Grant threw out one alleged confession on the grounds that it was made because of a promise of leniency. A second confession was introduced, and testimony on its validity began late yesterday afternoon.

Several reports have come in regarding catching some exceptionally large speckles out at the keys. Some have weighed as high as four pounds, according to Eddie Heath, August Rauxet and Chas. Lozano, who experienced catching the big ones for the first time last Saturday. Casting at the Keys is getting to be something.

Mixing with friends around the Bay Wednesday was Capt. Lawrence Peterson of Lakeshore, skipper on the yacht Sidmor owned by Sam Pulitzer of New Orleans, a strictly pleasure boat. Peterson said several nice parties have enjoyed the fishing of late.

The ladies of the Pass Christian Isles Golf Course are really "whooping it up" with their various tournaments on Tuesdays of each week. Keen competition, good golfing and much enthusiasm is being shown. Ladies here's a chance to have some real recreation and fun in your own back yard!

Another interesting skipper, fisherman and game warden is Lloyd Garcia who is skipper of the privately owned pleasure boat "Chinook II" housed at Kelly's Camp on Mulatto Bayou and owned by Lawrence Fabacher of New Orleans. Garcia knows the waters around the section comprising Pearl River, Middle River an the Louisiana waters. He can relate some real fishing trips and tell you of ideal fishing spots anywhere. He's a good fellow to know.

Local fight fans making the trip to New Orleans Monday night to see their favorite fighter, "Dugas" in action were Frank Trapani, Sidney Manieri, Theo Tudury, Luky Benigno, Joe Ciocciopoli, Bill Bertucci, Luky Pucheu, Sr., Luky Pucheu, Jr., Lloyd Laddie and others. According to Frank Trapani, Dugas made Estaban look like a beginner—of course this is the opinion of one man and not necessarily the opinion of this station!

Worthy of mention is little Robert Genin, Jr., who is barely 12 years of age and a good all around Sportsman. Bobby can fly fish with the best, having landed a 3 1/2 pound green trout and hundreds of other fish. He can play golf and drive that old ball on an average of about 150 yards. He is a chip off the old block, and has been coached by his Dad. Tuesday afternoon he was playing golf with his uncle, Lee Coster, who said Bobby took his over. It won't be long now before school is out. Be patient, Bobby!

If these speed hulls keep skipping over the waters at 70 miles per hour the fish will have to get out on the bank to be safe and fishermen will have to spend more time waiting for the waters to calm down than they do catching fish. It is just plain courtesy and safety!

Stanislaus Loses Two; Wins One

St. Stanislaus baseball team played three district games this past week, winning one and losing two.

In their first game of the season the Rocks showed their inexperience, dropping a long game to McGill, 18-0.

The losing pitcher in this game was Larry Mathes. The leading hitter for the Rockchaws was Kenny Artigues with two doubles.

In their next game, led by pitcher Billy Scarborough, Stanislaus defeated Pass Christian High 8-1.

Scarborough allowed the visitors three hits in the seven inning affair.

The outstanding defensive play in this encounter was made by Ernesto Aldape, who doubled a man off first base from left field after a shoestring catch.

Stanislaus then lost to Long Beach, 8-1. Powers, who allowed five runs in fourth and third innings received credit for the loss. He was relieved in the beginning of the fifth by Larry Mathes, who gave up three runs in the remainder of the seven innings.

St. Stanislaus' team is composed of one seventh grader, five in the young team which shows a lot of sophomore, two juniors and only two seniors.

It is a young team that shows a lot of potential. Coach Henry Helm said, "I have a young team which show a lot of promise."

100 YEARS AROUND THE CORNER—Louie Piernas is shown at the age of 98, looking ahead for the 100th year of his life, in Bay St. Louis.

PLENTY SLEEP, NO LIQUOR MADE PIERNAS 98 YEARS OLD

By GREGORY FAYRE

"I'm stretching out for 100," said Louie Piernas as he sat in his rocking chair enjoying life at the age of 98 years.

Louie, who just celebrated his latest birthday, attributes his age to good behavior, not losing much sleep and never drinking even though I was raised in a barroom.

Piernas' life began in Bay St. Louis on March 16, 1856. He is known to many of the local citizens as "Santa Claus" because of his long white beard. He has now reached the point where his memory reads like a book, retelling the many things which have taken place in this town and county since the Civil War.

During his childhood and teenage days he attended the first St. Rose School, where he not only mastered English but also French. Following his school days he became interested in post-war politics situation, and began his public life when he was elected to the office of City auditor, under Mayor Keller.

He was the first negro to hold a public office in Hancock County. He ran against an ex-confederate soldier for the position of Supervisor Beat 5 and was elected to serve for two terms, shortly after the War Between the States.

Then Piernas said in a humble voice, "I could never find time enough to thank all the people of Bay St. Louis for the wonderful life they have helped me live, and I would like to take this opportunity to do so."

—Luke Caruso son of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Caruso of this city has been named pledge master of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at Mississippi Southern College.

He also headed the Republican

Committee of Hancock County for 65 years, during which time he was elected president of the Republican Mississippi League in 1877. Twice he was elected delegate to the convention of the sixth Congressional District of Mississippi.

Piernas said, "I attended the state conventions until eight years ago, then I got too old and decided to let someone younger take my place."

While continuing his other public services he organized the first Promote Benevolent Society in 1878. He has been president, secretary, and treasurer of this Society. For the same group he managed the Promote band.

"Even though I am 98 years old, I still pay my society dues. You would think that a man my age wouldn't have to pay them."

During the Yellow Fever rage he served on the Howard committee from New Orleans.

Another honor bestowed on Piernas, who was one of the earliest pioneers on the coast and who is the only living member of this group, when appointed as a page boy in the legislature under President McKinley, in 1876.

He related he was the first subscriber to the "Sea Coast Echo."

"I bought the first one from Mr. Charlie Moreau," he said.

Then Piernas said in a humble voice, "I could never find time enough to thank all the people of Bay St. Louis for the wonderful life they have helped me live, and I would like to take this opportunity to do so."

—Luke Caruso son of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Caruso of this city has been named pledge master of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at Mississippi Southern College.
